

Cogan

Higham Hill
October 9

My dear Madam,

You kindly expressed a wish to receive a few lines together with the articles which my sisters and myself have so much pleasure in forwarding to you, and I therefore willingly sit down to address a short note to you - May accept my thanks for your kindness in writing, and also for your gratifying intention of presenting me with a copy of the "Liberty Bell" - Soon after the receipt of your welcome note, my brother called at the bookseller in Fleet St. as directed, for a copy of it for me, but was told that no order had reached them to this effect. In the mean time I received a copy from the Glasgow Society, and have read the contents with much interest.

I was also much pleased to see so excellent a likeness of Mr. Holt, with whom my sister and myself had the pleasure of breakfasting one morning at Dr. Thellus's in London. May I beg you to present my kind compliments to her - I thought it right to mention the circumstance of my not having received your intended kindness, as, in writing to you, I could not avoid the subject altogether - If at any future time there should be any communication or paper, you might wish me to receive, perhaps you would kindly order it to be sent to Mr. Richard Cogan's 49 Red Cross St. Cripplegate, in which case, it would reach me without any failure of your kind intentions, and the distance is short from Fleet St. I have now only to beg you to accept my sincere and fervent wishes, that you may be spared to see many returns of the festive season which will have arrived ere this reaches you, and that each return may bring with it a still more cheering prospect of success in the great and good cause to which you have so ably devoted the best powers of your mind and heart.

How comparatively insignificant is the little aid it may be in my power to bestow, merely sitting quietly at home passing occasional leisure hours in an occupation at once pleasing and varied—Yours ever most devoted Dear Madam, Most entirely welcome to the accompanying humble efforts in aid of your own nobler undertakings and with every sentiment of esteem believe me yours most warmly in the cause of Humanity and freedom - Sarah Logan

May I be permitted to request the favour of your procuring for me if you can do so without any trouble (for I would not intrude on your valuable time) an autograph of the great and good Dr Channing A few words, or signature to a letter would be sufficient - It would be in good company placed by the side of "M<sup>r</sup> W Chapman" which I have now the pleasure of possessing -
